

Crestwood Capital Advisors — Meeting Prep Brief

Borrower: Crestwood Capital Advisors · Wealth Management (IL) · RM: Tom DeLuca Relationship since: 2021 · Tier: Growth · Primary contact: James Whitmore, CEO Data current through: 2025-05-31 · Brief prepared: 2026-06-13

■ ■ Read this first — the record is stale and the clock has moved

The system of record stops at 2025-05-31. Today is 2026-06-13 — roughly 12.5 months of activity is not in the data, and it goes cold mid-renewal (last entry: pricing exception still in review, 2025-05-12).

- Maturity is now ~79 days out (~11 weeks), not 457. Matures 2026-08-31 (dossier: profile); the radar's "457 days" was measured as of the 2025-05-31 data date.
- The outcome of the 4.90% pricing exception is unknown from the data — whether it was approved, whether Whitmore stayed, whether First Midwest closed. Confirm current status with your own records before the meeting; everything below the line is as-of May 2025.

Bottom line

Crestwood is a healthy, pristine relationship with a competing term sheet on the table and a renewal that had stalled in pricing as of the last record. The radar fires retention-attention: engage now and close the renewal — do not let the pricing decision keep drifting. This is a "who am I about to lose?" situation, not a credit problem.

The relationship picture (facts, as of 2025-05)

- Growth-tier relationship since 2021; $3.2MM term loan, fixed 5.25%, office-acquisition / CRE collateral, personal guarantee (dossier: profile).
- Metrics are clean and improving: DSCR (TTM) 2.61x vs 1.15x covenant min; leverage 0.73 vs 2.5x max; current ratio 3.8; revolver 0%; 0 days past due; covenant status Compliant (latest_performance:2025-05).
- 0 deterioration signals; DSCR trend improving (flag_renewal_and_retention).
- Relationship value: AUM $2.35B — but this appears only in an internal CRM note in the email thread (2025-04-09), not in structured portfolio data. Growth trajectory on record: $2.1B (Jan 2024) → $2.22B (Sep 2024) → $2.31B (Jan 2025) → $2.35B (Apr 2025).
- No relationship memo on file (dossier: has_relationship_memo = false).

The renewal / maturity clock

- Matures 2026-08-31 — ~79 days from today (2026-06-13); was 457 days as of the 2025-05-31 data (flag_renewal_and_retention).
- Next covenant package due 2025-09-30 per the dossier (also now stale — likely already filed; verify).

The competitive situation

- First Midwest competing term sheet on record at 4.90% fixed, 5-year, same structure, no prepayment penalty yrs 4–5, since Feb 2025 — a 35bp gap vs Centerline's 5.25% (email thread 2025-02-12; loan_performance:2025-02).
- Soft signals preceded it and were under-pursued at the time: First Midwest approach on deposits (Jan 2024), "market-check" meetings through 2024, an explicit "did not follow up on this comment" (activity_log:2024-01-30, 2024-09-18, 2025-01-20).

- Centerline counter offered 4/15: 5.05% fixed 5-yr, no prepay penalty yrs 4–5. Whitmore: "closer but still above First Midwest," asked for a 4.90% match, gave a 2-week deadline (activity_log:2025-04-15).
- Client ultimatum verbatim (email 2025-04-08): "you'll need to be at or below 4.90% to have a real conversation. The relationship has value but I'm not paying for it."
- Pricing-exception request to match 4.90% submitted 5/8; Whitmore's 2-week deadline expired May 13; RM emailed 5/12 asking for an extension while the exception was still in review (activity_log:2025-05-08, 2025-05-12). No recorded resolution after that.
- Attrition risk noted in the record (latest_performance notes; flag_renewal_and_retention).

How it drifted (timeline)

A 3/18 scheduled call with Whitmore was not completed (reconstructed from calendar; no RM log entry). Whitmore's 4/3 follow-up was explicitly frustrated and asked for a decision in 30–45 days; he noted First Midwest "have been more responsive." The proposal landed 4/15; pricing went into limbo and the record ends there. The pattern: soft competitive signals under-pursued → a real term sheet → a slow proposal → a pricing decision still owed. Tom's own 4/9 CRM note: "this is a relationship worth keeping."

Act before they shop us

- 1 Reconcile the record first. It's 12.5 months stale — confirm where the 4.90% exception landed, whether Whitmore is still a client, and the live maturity/renewal status before you walk in.
- 2 Close the pricing decision. A pricing-committee decision on the 4.90% match exception was owed and overdue against the client's deadline as of the last record — drive it to resolution. (Pricing committee owns the rate; this brief recommends no price.)
- 3 Re-engage Whitmore directly and promptly — given the expired deadline and his stated frustration, lead with a clear answer, not another "going back to pricing."
- 4 Open a relationship memo — none on file for a Growth-tier, multi-year client with $2.35B AUM at stake.
